Pensions Made Simple: How your pension works

00:05.000 --> 00:10.000

A pension with Local Government is an easy way to save for life after work.

00:10.000 --> 00:13.000

It's a Defined Benefit pension,

00:13.000 --> 00:17.000

which means that it's built up by using a fixed formula.

00:17.000 --> 00:21.000

This gives you a secure and guaranteed income every year

00:21.000 --> 00:23.000

when you stop working.

00:23.000 --> 00:25.000

It works like this.

00:25.000 --> 00:29.000

Every year you build up a pension based on a fraction of your salary.

00:29.000 --> 00:32.000

This is paid into your pension account.

00:32.000 --> 00:37.000

At the end of the year, this is added to your total from previous years

00:37.000 --> 00:41.000

and re-valued to make sure it keeps up with the cost of living.

00:41.000 --> 00:44.000

When you take your pension in later life,

00:44.000 --> 00:49.000

the total in your account is paid to you as your annual pension

00:49.000 --> 00:54.000

and you can choose to swap part of it for a tax free lump sum.

00:54.000 --> 01:00.000

If you leave your job before retirement, you have two choices.

01:00.000 --> 01:01.000

You can keep your pension account,

01:01.000 --> 01:04.000

though you won't be able to pay into it any longer.

01:04.000 --> 01:07.000

This is known as a deferred pension.

01:07.000 --> 01:11.000

Or you can transfer it into another pension.

01:11.000 --> 01:14.000

However, if you leave within 2 years,

01:14.000 --> 01:19.000

you will normally be able to claim a refund of your contributions.

01:19.000 --> 01:25.000

Visit the LGPS Scotland website for more information about the benefits of the Scheme

01:25.000 --> 01:31.000 and how any pension you built up before 1 April 2015 is worked out.
